Professional Development Conference for Maine Women

“Decide to Win!”

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 2010

7:30 A.M. TO NOON

HANNAFORD HALL
ABROMSON COMMUNITY EDUCATION CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN MAINE
PORTLAND CAMPUS

Dress for Success Southern Maine and the Maine Women’s Network invite all Maine women to participate in a morning of learning and reflection. Whether you are a seasoned professional or are just beginning your career, presentations will help you to think about your own decision-making process in new and productive ways.

Discover how you can make winning decisions at the office, at home, in your bank account—and everywhere that matters—to get the results you want. In a motivating and supportive environment, you will:

- Gain valuable insight into your decision-making process.
- Learn how to make decisions that get you closer to the outcomes you want.
- Understand how to make smart financial decisions.
- Feel more clear and confident in the face of challenging choices.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

“THE PATH TO PROSPERITY:
HOW TO MAKE CHOICES
THAT LEAD TO WEALTH”
Racquel Tibbetts, CPA, CFP®

Women make the majority of financial decisions for their households and their families. Having a customized financial plan will help define your goals and objectives. Financial planning is like a good itinerary. Everyone needs to know where they are headed and how they will get there. It requires an active commitment and disciplined, informed choices to achieve goals and get the best value for your money.

Racquel Tibbetts serves as a Key Private Bank financial planner for Maine. Prior to this role, she spent the last five years in the Business Banking Division at Key. She has also worked for public accounting firms headquartered in Maine. Racquel is a Certified Public Accountant and Certified Financial Planner™ Professional.

9:15 – 10:30 a.m.

“SUCCESSFUL DECISION MAKING”

Amy Wood, Psy.D.

Choosing a course of action can be difficult in a time-pressed world where options and opinions abound. This workshop will help to simplify decision making. Screen out the superfluous, review viable alternatives, consider consequences, and integrate vital factors—from personal values and intuitive hunches to “expert” advice and desired outcomes.

Amy Wood is a psychologist specializing in personal and professional development coaching and training. She is also a faculty member of Ruby Slippers, a Portland-based organization dedicated to helping women clarify and cultivate their goals through retreats and workshops.

10:45 – noon

“THE INNER WORKINGS OF YOUR GREAT
DECISIONS – MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR SIGNATURE STYLE”

Jennifer Comeau and Karen S. Hinchliffe

We wear our decisions every day—in our offices, our communities, and our households. Some of our decisions truly fit. Some of our best decisions bear our signature. What is a successful decision for you? This workshop will guide you in a thoughtful session that toggles between the certainties and uncertainties of great decisions. You’ll leave with a framework you can employ again and again.

Jennifer Comeau and Karen Hinchliffe are entrepreneurs and business consultants who find powerful synergy when they share space. Their presentation derives from their Signature Leadership Intensive: Decisions in Action.
