Are you planning for or wondering about the next steps in your professional life?

With the New Year upon us and the hopeful resolutions for positive change that come with it, there has never been a better time to reflect on and renew your sense of professional purpose.

Whether you find yourself at a career crossroads because of a layoff or you simply desire a new direction, this interactive daylong forum is designed to provide participants at all professional stages a thoughtful, supportive structure to plan for a successful career and work transition. With workshops on topics like maintaining momentum in your transition and making the most of social and in-person networking, and a panel discussion featuring the inspirational stories of those who have successfully made professional transitions, Act II will engage participants' heads and hearts by offering strategies, connections and a positive perspective from which to move forward.

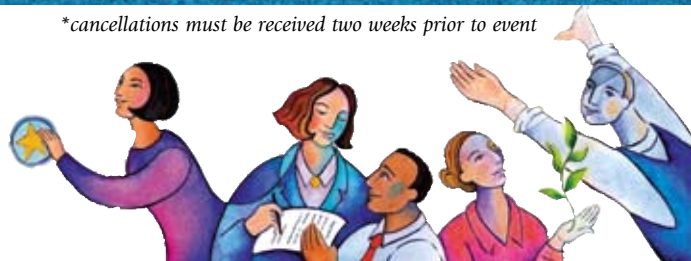

Following the first Act II held last summer, one attendee said "Loved it! I feel more grounded and ready to roll." If you would benefit from this opportunity to look inward, and onward, please join us on January 29 in Freeport for a forum past participants have lauded as "life changing."
